

Freiburg Talks on International & European Forest Policy

Winter Semester Series 2012/13

Herderbau
Room 100
1:15 p.m.

This seminar series provides a platform for leading scholars and renowned experts to share their thoughts on current topics and developments related to international and European forest policy.

The challenge of how to design global and European institutions for sustainable forest management will be a central theme throughout this series. Additionally, case study research and innovative perspectives on crucial issues related to forest policy will be presented and discussed.
